

HARRISON PUBLIC LIBRARY

Wireless Internet Service

The Harrison Public Library offers users with wireless-enabled devices free Internet access using the WiFi standard.

The Library provides unrestricted access and does not monitor or control content.

The Library is not responsible for your activity and strongly encourages you to respect copyright laws in your use of the Internet.

Our network is not encrypted and is inherently not secure. The Library assumes no responsibility for damage, theft or loss of any kind to a user's equipment, software, data files or other personal property brought into or used at the Library. Others, both inside and outside the Library building, may be able to see information being transmitted to or from your device, or information on your device's storage media. Users of the wireless service are responsible for installing appropriate virus and other security protection on the wireless device.

Library staff are not authorized to configure your wireless device and do not provide access support.

No printing is available from the wireless device.
